CHRYSANTHEMUM COURT. Time rings constant changes. The seasons follow one another quickly, each bringing what most harmonizes with its general character; and, naturally, the flowery kingdom must have its share of change. As the plants and blossoms succeed each other we can readily see how they differ in kind and quality, and how continual guard must be kept to have the succession suitable, pleasing and profitable. Before Dame Nature rests for a while, the florists would especially call attention to the fact that the Chrysanthemum will hold open court on Saturday, November 17, at Center Market, and not again this year will such a display be witnessed as this autumn queen will make. Good Music and a Good Time at the Pure Food Show. Tickets, 25c. . MR. GRANT PROTESTS

Thinks East Capitol Post Office Comes Under Civil Service.

Two Appointments by Postmaster Willett-Mr. Procter Wants to Consult the Postmaster General.

Postmaster Willett began yesterday to distribute the limited patronage left to him by the extension of the classification of the civil service. In the evening he appointed Mr. Wm. M. Dove, superintendent of the East Capitol station, to succeed Mr. Frederick A. Grant, and Mr. William H. Fletcher, superintendent of the southwest station, of which the former incumbent was Mr. Alfred C. Irvine. Both Mr. Grant and Mr. Irvine resigned and were given thirty days' leave of absence with pay.

Mr. Dove is one of the best-known citizens of the District, where he has resided all his life. He is forty-three years old, and has been an ardent democrat ever since he was old enough to know what politics meant. He was for a long time fuel inspector of the District. He is a leading member of the Columbia Athletic Club.

Mr. Fletcher is also prominent among Washingtonians. He has been engaged in the furniture business here for many years, having been a member of the firm of Singleton & Fletcher, and also for a long time employed by W. B. Moses. His democracy is of the Jeffersonian variety, and he has always taken a warm interest in party

Some interest has been created in the case of Mr. Grant by the announcement that several days ago he presented to the civil service commission and the Postmaster General a protest against the exclusion of the East Capitol station from the operation of the civil service law, whose protec-tion had been extended by a recent order of President Cleveland, to all the post office stations in Washirgton except the East Capitol, the southwest and the Georgetown branches. Mr. Grant based his protest upon the ground that under the postal laws a superintendent of a carrier station is classified as other superintendents who are responsible directly to the postmaster and the Post Office Department, and who are now protected by the civil service law. Consequently, he believed that the East Capitol station should have been included in the list placed under the classified service, and so he requested the civil service commission and the Postmaster General for decision in the matter. Mr. Grant states that his course is not intended as a move against the appointment of his successor, but for the purpose of having the law construed. The Post-master General was not at his office today, being still indisposed by the slight illness he has been suffering for several days. Others at the department knew nothing about the protest. At the city post office, Postmaster Willett, when his attention was called to Mr. Grant's action, said he knew nothing about it.

"Mr. Grant resigned as the superintendent of the East Washington station," said Mr. Willett, "and I have appointed his successor. Mr. Grant was given one month's leave of absence with pay.' Mr. Grant's memorial had been received by the civil service commission, but no ction had been taken upon it.

"I do not see in what way the commission can take up the question presented by Mr. Grant, other than to refer it to the Postmaster General," said President Procter. "The commission would certainly not make any recommendations to the President that did not meet Mr. Bissell's approval, because he is as good a civil service reformer as the commission themselves. If he wishes the stations in question to be excepted we will, of course, endeavor to have such a result "Was the Postmaster General consulted in the preparation of the recent order extending the classified service in his department," inquired the reporter. Why, certainly. The order met with his cordial approval, as well as that of the commission. I have not called his attention to Mr. Grant's communication yet, as he has not been well. I expect to see him today, but on different matters."

Death of Mrs. Ridenour. Mrs. Elizabeth Miller Ridenour, wife of Mr. Upton H. Ridenour, an old and re- they state that they have taken possession spected resident of this city, died at 8:45 o'clock this morning at the famliy residence, 916 14th street northwest, after a long illness. Several months ago Mrs. Ridenour was stricken with paralysis, and since then she has steadily failed. All of her four children are married and live in SPECIAL FOR SATURDAY.

Trwin. Mrs. Ridenour's death will be greatIrwin. Mrs. Ridenour's death will be greatly deplored by her very many friends, for she has led a most useful life in this city, and was well known for her charitable and kindly disposition. She was devoted to the welfare of her children, and had throughout her life denied herself for them. She took a deep interest in religious matters, and up to the time she was taken ill was active in church circles. The funeral will take place at 2 o'clock on Sunday after-noon at the residence.

The Death of Chas. J. Grasse.

Charles J. Grasse died suddenly Wednesday night, at his residence,227 West 40th street, New York city. He was well known in this city, having been for a number of years an employe at Ellis' music store and otherwise engaged in musical circles. For the last eighteen years he has held the position of piano inspector for Steinway Bros., New York. His funeral will take place Sunday.

Co-Operative Association. Articles incorporating the Capital Cooperative Association of the District of Columbia have been filed by the following directors for the first year: Green Clay Smith, B. F. Graham, J. J. Freeland, B. F. Chase, A. A. Rice, J. C. Peacock, Hiram Kibby, W. H. Miner and W. H. Bane. The object of the association is to sell the necessaries of life at the lowest cost, and it will be permitted to own or lease real estate for its store and to conduct a general mercantile, market and commission business. The annual meeting is to be held in January, beginning with 1896, other meetings to be held on the first Monday of each month. Maine Alumui.

The Washington Alumni of the Maine State College gave a banquet last night to President A. H. Harris of that institution at Willard's. The graduates of the college took advantage of this opportunity to effect a permanent organization by electing these officers: President, Prof. Frank Lam-son-Scribner; vice president, Prof. George R. Merrill; secretary and treasurer, Mr. E. H. Kelley. An executive committee was appointed, composed of Capt. F. F. Phillips, Dr. A. M. Farrington and Mr. William Morey, jr.

Will Filed.

The will of the late Adelaide Alexander, dated July 27, 1891, has been filed, and a niece, Mary B. Alexander, is named as executrix. The estate is left to the nieces of the deceased, Mary B., Adelaide and Hortense B. Alexander, Charles B. Alexander, a nephew, and to Virginia W. Alexander,

AMUSEMENTS.

Clay Greene's opera, "The Maid of Plymouth," attracted a very large and fashionable audience at the National Theater last night, and the work was given by the Bostonians in their usual complete manner. The opera was heard here last season, and the satire on the Puritan life in New England was greatly enjoyed. Since then the libretto has been rewritten, and is now much brighter than ever. The music is reminiscent but there are some catchy melodies, and whatever there is in both score and book is fully brought out by the excellent people in this cast. The burden of the fun falls upon Barnabee, whose burlesque of the Puritan elder is as neat and effective as he only can make it; Jessie Bartlett Davis, who does some splendid work as the romantic Indian maiden, and George Frothingham, who as an up-to-date redskin, makes all there is out of the part, and who got off the only local gag when he refused to tell when the new post office building would be completed. Miss Davis has one solo worthy of her, and this received a double encore. She was also obliged to repeat the duet with Miss Cleary. The latter, by the way, was quite effective as Sir Lovesly Montague, the first Puritan masher. Mr. Cowles, as Miles Standish, had few opportunities to display his noble bass voice, and Mr. Sheehan, as John Alden, did all that was required of him satisfactorily. Miss Eloise Morgan was a dainty Priscilla, and Miss Caroline Hamilton was quite vivacious as the wordly Primrose. The chorus was good, and Mr. Studley handled his orchestra with the ease and grace that come from long experience as a conductor. Church of Our Father.-An unusually good program has been prepared for the benefit of the Universalist Young People's Christian Endeavor Society, to be given at the Church of Our Father, corner 13th and L streets northwest, this evening. This society, being specially interested in the home missionary movements and desirous of assisting the Capitol Hill Mission Sunday school, has assumed its expenses for the coming month, and among the outside work it is aiding is the colored mission work in Norfolk, Va. The program embraces the following favorites among the younger musicians of Washington: Mrs. Nellie Dobbins Exnicios, contralto; Miss Fannie Atlee, soprano; Mr. Melville D. Hensey, tenor; Miss Grace Winslow, recitationist; Miss Carrie Jordon, planist; Mr. Ed. Tracy, cornetist; Mr. Frank E. Ward, organist; a male quartet, under the direction of Mr. Hensey, ending with the ever sented by Miss Sara A. Kiggins and Mr. Robert W. Smiley.

The Short Story Club. The Short Story Club met Wednesday evening at the residence of Miss Dora F. Voorhis, 1428 Q street northwest. The following officers were elected: Maj. F. I. Willis, president, vice Mrs. L. A. Crandall resigned; Mrs. Francis Burkett, vice president; Miss Corinne Hay, secretary, vice Mrs. E. F. Hort, resigned; Mrs. Joseph Roy, assistant secretary. This finished the transaction of business. Then the following varied and delightful program was presented: Dr. L. R. Klemm read an original story, entitled "The World Wants to be Deceived," a Japanese fable on the success that infallibly attends all humbugs. Miss Lulu Facius rendered exquisitely "La Guittant," by Bischoff. Mr. Duncan Heywood gave a fine selection from "Mac-beth." Dr. Thomas Calver contributed an original poem, "The Three Angels." Piano solo, Miss Facius. Mr. Whittaker gave two amusing readings. Miss Jeannie Hey-wood sang the old and ever charming ballad, "My Love is Like a Red Rose." Miss Corinne Hay concluded the entertainment with Joaquin Miller's "Bear Story," and as an encore recited "Johnny." The following guests and members were present: Maj. Willis, Mrs. M. F. Heywood, Dr. R. Klemm, Miss Lula Facius, Mrs. D. T. Voorhis, Mrs. J. L. McCreery, Miss Mc-Creery, Mrs. George F. Duggett, Mr. Geo. C. Gwynn, Miss Gertrude Withington, Mrs. Joseph Roy, Mr. Paul Sperry, Miss Augusta Pratt, Miss C. E. Bates, Mrs. A. Perkirs, Miss Jeannie F. Heywood, Miss Mary E. Ringgold, Mr. Duncan Heywood, Mrs. J E. Engle, Hiss Helen Engle, Dr. Thomas Robinson, Dr. Thomas Calver, Dr. W. B.

Pomeroy, Mrs. F. L. Bailinger and others. Washington Beneficial Association. The receivers recently appointed in the case of the Washington Beneficial and Endownent Association against the Commercial Alliance Life Insurance Company of New York have filed a report, in which of the office building of the first-named association, 419 10th street, its papers and other property, and that they found among the papers those relating to the assessments due in consequence of the death of the following persons: Alonzo Mills and Mary Ganning of this city, John M. Leaville of Culpeper, Va., Andrew J. Manning of Portsmouth, Va. Notices of assessments on these are ready to be sent out. The monthly revenues of the association are stated to be $120.60, while the expenses are just $37.60 greater. The receivers say that they have insured the building for $10,000, and that they will pay the water rent, due McKnew, 933 Penna. ave., announces in another column of the arrival of nearly $10,000 worth of entirely new coats and capes within the last few days, and it is but reasonable to suppose that the most fashionable of this season's "novelties" should find their way into his establishment, he having made a specialty of coats, capes and suits for the past thirty years. Seal plush capes enter largely into the modes this season, being richly embroidered and jetted. The fact that ladies' coats are shown in four different lengths this season gives a wide range of opportunity for the display of individual taste, enabling ladies to select the style most becoming to their figure. Mr. McKnew also carries a complete line of ladies' furnishings.

Willett & Ruoff, 905 Pa. Ave. N.W. NEWSBOYS' HOME.

"The Maid of Plymouth."-Thorne and The Trustees Arel Looking for a Site for a New Building. At a meeting of the board of trustees of the Newsboys' and Children's Aid Society yesterday a committee was appointed to select a site for the new building which it is proposed to erect. The sum of $30,000, which was left to the society by the will of Mrs. Maulsbey, is now in the hands of the trustees. It is the desire to secure a location in the vicinity of the present home, which is on E street between 9th and 10th streets. The new building will contain a gymnasium, reading rooms, large bath rooms, entertainment hall and other modern facilities for carrying on the work of the society. With the equipment which this new building will afford, it is believed by those who are interested in this commendable work that its scope can be greatly enlarged and that a great deal can be done to benefit the class which the society is designed to reach. Successful Reception. The annual reception tendered by the members of the Carroll Institute to the friends of the organization occurred last evening in institute building on 10th street between New York avenue and K street northwest. The various rooms were rated, especially so the concert hall. An enjoyable program was rendered, those participating being the Carroll Institute orchestra, Rev. D. J. Stafford, Mrs. Berry, Miss Mattingly, Miss Moore, Mr. Nowland, Mr. Cook, Mr. Hughes, Mr. Ferry, Mr. Walsh, Mr. Cullen and Mr. McEnery. An exhibition of basket ball by Prof. Joyce and pupils was followed by a ladies' bowling contest and ladies' billiard contest. Dancing occupied the remainder of the evening. The members and their friends were pres ent in large numbers, and the affair proved unprecedentedly successful.
